

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus, system, method, and program for facilitating the design of a bare board circuit board include transmitting a user interface application to a user
5 over a publicly-accessible global network. The user interface application is updated in response to circuit board design data entered by the user.